Youngsters Make Up Party: "Hold-Outs" Perdue Huggins

Midget Manager Has a Few Problems to Solve; Lack of Southpaws

A crowd of several hundred fans were on hand at the Pennsylvania Station at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon to see the Yankee rookies off on their spring training trip. Accompanying them was the manager, Al Woods, and several players, including the midget manager, Phil Schenck, and the midget manager, Charles McManus and Mark both and a dozen newspaper men, almost enough to fill special car, while a half dozen others were to be picked up at the hotel.

Manager Miller Huggins is going direct from his home in Cincinnati to Shreveport and will be in that Louisiana city when the first squad arrives. It is believed that comparatively few of the players will be in the city a week with the club before the veterans are assembled from Hot Springs, Ark., and their various homes.

Huggins will have plenty of experience in this year in shaping the destinies of his club, for in addition to his own scouts, Bob Connery and Joe Kelly, and a new coach, Frank Roth, the midget manager, Ed Barrow will be in Shreveport. The midget manager, a manager of players Barrow has proven his class of the highest order and as late as 1918, with the Boston Red Sox, won a world's championship.

At the Pennsylvania Station, several knotty problems. Not the greatest of these is an acknowledged holdout attitude on the part of some of the players who were regulars last year. It is believed that comparatively few of the veterans assigned from last year have sent in 1921 contracts. At least two men from whom much was expected the coming season—Aaron Ward and Bobby Meusel—are confessed holdouts.

Hold-Outs Not Serious
The holdout proposition is not likely to prove a serious one. The individuals of championship teams, or teams that reap such a golden harvest as that which fell to the lot of the Yankees, usually declare in for a share of the profits. It is to be presumed that all the recalcitrants will find themselves in Shreveport in due season.

There are certain holdouts in his battle line that Huggins must plug. The midget manager did a lot of bartering during the winter. He traded off his entire catching brigade and has left only one port-sider, Harry Harper, secured from the Red Sox. Harper is somewhat of an unknown quantity. He is erratic, to say the least. Huggins is holding out on the outfield, which is the greatest weakness of the Yankees last year. Bobby Roth should not only add a great deal of speed to a slow team, but believe the punch occasioned by the loss of the outfielders. Huggins' team runs too strongly right now to right-fielders. Ruth, Roth and Meusel are all right-fielders.

As to the catching, that seemed to have been remedied through the acquisition of Wally Schang from the Red Sox. But Schang, for the time at least, is a holdout. He will be coming into the club after Hoffman must be considered as the only catcher of experience with the club and Hoffman had little experience last year. He has great possibilities, but they are undeveloped.

Still Waiting on Baker
It is unknown as yet whether Frank Baker will play. If he does he will go back to accustomed patrol at third base. This will leave a merry fight for the job vacated by Pratt. Ward, when he returns; Mitchell, the coast marvel, and McNally will all be out for this berth, as it is unlikely that anybody coming to take Pratt's job will be able to take the position. The midget manager for the second base position, though if thoroughly sound again, he could probably beat out any of the others. Huggins has practically no outfielders. He is anxious to pitch this year. If Huggins is anxious to pitch this year, the port-sider brigade will take care of itself, for without the question of a doubt, Ruth single-handed could take care of that department. The second base position and the rearrangement of the outfield are problems which Huggins must solve for himself.

Attorney for Cicotte
Confers With Officials
CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Daniel P. Cassidy, attorney for Edward Cicotte, today conferred with state officials and attorneys for other Chicago American League players who will go on trial March 14, charged with conspiracy in connection with the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series.

Mr. Cassidy refused to say what attitude Cicotte would take in the trial. "If I told you either that he would or would not repudiate his grand jury confession, it might be misleading," he added. He returned to Detroit tonight.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Mayor Moore, in a message to the City Council today, requested an appropriation of not less than $50,000 for immediate dredging of the Schuylkill River, opposite Boathouse Row. Without this appropriation, he said, the river cannot be dredged and therefore will be unfit for the American Henley regatta May 28.
